Comment

Torphichen

No land is allocated for housing development at Torphichen in the Proposed LDP. Scottish Planning Policy (para 122) states that 'Local development plans should allocate appropriate sites to support the creation of sustainable mixed communities and successful places and help to ensure the continued delivery of new housing'. With a continuing trend towards smaller household sizes and an ageing population, there is increasing pressure on the available housing stock in small settlements like Torphichen. More homes are required simply to retain existing population levels. As population drops, so local services decline. This is not conducive to the planning of sustainable settlements, as required by SPP. The Proposed LDP focuses new housing and other developments on the main urban centres in what remains a largely rural district. It is important that the health and sustainability of all settlements are fully considered, including small rural villages. A small amount of new housing at Torphichen would support local services and help to provide opportunities for local people to remain in the village as their families expand. The mix of houses could include smaller affordable homes, mixed market housing and larger homes, meeting a range of needs. The LDP proposes a primary school extension at Torphichen. This would accommodate pupils living in new homes in the village. These homes would be within walking or cycling distance of the school, unlike others proposed within the primary school catchment, which would rely on private car transport or expensive and inefficient school bus services. New development of new houses would be expected to provide financial contributions for school provision. Most of Torphichen lies within a Conservation Area and the village is surrounded by the Bathgate Hills Special Landscape Area. These designations impose a constraint on the identification on new development land. However, there is a site which can be developed for housing without significant impacts upon either the Conservation Area or the Special Landscape Area. The site is located at the west end of Cathlaw Lane, towards the south east of Torphichen. A site location plan has been provided in support of this submission. The site is low lying and detached from the Listed Buildings and Scheduled Monuments in the Conservation Area. It is also well screened and physically separated from the Geodiversity and Local Biodiversity sites to the north. It already reads as part of the developed areas of the village. Two new houses have been built recently to the east of the site, extending the established pattern of housing at Cathlaw Lane. There is an unsightly derelict garage at the south of the site which can be incorporated into a new housing development, achieving a significant environmental improvement within the Conservation Area. This site has previously been granted planning permission for three houses. The site extends to approximately 1.5 hectares/3.8 acres. It forms a natural organic extension to the village and rounds off an unusually shaped and fragmented settlement boundary. The two separate parts of the settlement already read as one. The settlement boundary shown on the LDP map for the village excludes the two recently constructed houses at the east of the site, despite that fact that these were granted planning permission by the Council. This appears to be either an oversight or an artificial construct to protect against further extension of the settlement envelope. In fact, expansion of the village in this location would not result in any loss of place quality or Conservation Area character, subject to suitable design, which can be controlled by typical planning policies and Supplementary Guidance. The Council may wish to request a Design Brief or Design Statement to ensure that the quality of development is appropriate to the Conservation Area setting. Access is available from Cathlaw Lane at the south east of the site. Services and drainage are available locally. The SEPA flood map indicates a risk of flooding from a burn which follows the northern boundary of the site. However, this should be manageable through a flood risk assessment and appropriate flood control and SUDS measures. Other houses recently developed at Cathlaw Lane have been located on land adjacent to the burn. The site could accommodate 10-20 houses, subject to clarification of flood risk, housing mix and the detailed consideration of design and layout. It is proposed that the LDP should be amended to allocate this housing site as a means of creating a supply for Torphichen and supporting its sustainable future.

Proposals
Map 5 -
Villages

The Torphichen settlement boundary shown on the LDP map for the village excludes the two recently constructed houses at the west end of Cathlaw Lane, despite the fact that these were granted planning permission by the Council. This appears to be either an oversight or an artificial construct to protect against further extension of the settlement envelope. The settlement envelope should be extended to include these properties. This representation proposes a new housing site at the west end of Cathlaw Lane, Torphichen, which should be included within the village settlement boundary. It forms a natural organic extension to the village and rounds off an unusually shaped and fragmented settlement boundary. The two separate parts of the settlement in this location already read as one.
