WEST LOTHIAN COUNCIL COMMUNITY ASSET TRANSFER ANNUAL REPORT 2021/22

1. Introduction

This Community Asset Transfer Annual Report has been prepared in compliance with the mandatory requirements of Part 5 (Section 95) of the Community Empowerment (Scotland) Act 2015. The report has been prepared by the council's Asset Manager as the Lead Officer for Community Asset Transfer and it covers the period 1 April 2021 to 31 March 2022.

2. Community Asset Transfer Requests Received

The council received one community asset transfer request during the period 1 April 2021 to 31 March 2022. That request is summarised in Table 1 below.

Table 1: Community Asset Transfer Requests received (1 April 2021 to 31 March 2022)

No.	Applicant	Subject Property	Proposed Use	Application Status
1.	St. John's Church, Linlithgow	The Low Port Centre, Blackness Road, Linlithgow	Church activities and a wide range of community activities, both existing and new.	Live application

3. Community Asset Transfer Requests Refused or Accepted

No community asset transfer requests were refused by the council's Asset Transfer Committee during the period 1 April 2021 to 31 March 2022.

No community asset transfer requests were accepted by the council's Asset Transfer Committee during the period 1 April 2021 to 31 March 2022.

The council completed one community asset transfer in 2021/22 that transferred ownership or the lease of land, or resulted in other rights in respect of that land being conferred on a community transfer body. That asset transfer saw ownership of the former Eastfield Training Centre, Eastfield Road, Fauldhouse transfer to the Fauldhouse and Breich Valley Community Development Trust (FBVCDT) following an asset transfer request that was lodged by FBVCDT in 2020/21.

4. Applications for Internal Reviews

The council did not receive any applications for internal review in respect of a decision taken by the Asset Transfer Committee in relation to an asset transfer request during the period 1 April 2021 to 31 March 2022.

5. Appeals of Decisions Taken

There were no appeals to the Scottish Ministers in respect of a decision taken by the Asset Transfer Committee or the Asset Transfer Review Body in relation to an asset transfer request during the period 1 April 2021 to 31 March 2022.

6. Promotion of the use of Community Asset Transfer Requests

The council's approved Community Asset Transfer Policy and its supporting governance arrangements are recognised as being both progressive and proactive. They encourage a corporate approach to the use of community asset transfer as a driver for positive change that has the potential to deliver benefits not only for our communities, but also for the council itself.

The council's Transforming Your Council agenda included a dedicated work stream entitled "Empowering Communities". The aim of that work stream was to encourage community groups to use asset transfer as a means of acquiring and operating community assets, including community centres, village halls and sports pavilions. That work stream has been supported by staff resources and a significant, dedicated capital investment budget for community-led asset transfer projects.

Throughout the year and despite the effects of the Covid-19 healthcare emergency, officers have undertaken a series of online one-to-one meetings with a range of community groups, to provide an introduction and insight into community asset transfer and its benefits.

The council as members of the Association of Chief Estate Surveyors (ACES) has discussed community asset transfer with a view to sharing information and learning from good practice across the 32 local authorities.

7. Support for Community Transfer Bodies making an Asset Transfer Request

The council's Asset Manager, and colleagues from Customer Services, Economic Development and Community Regeneration, have met with a range of community groups to explain the principles of asset transfer and to discuss the provisions of the council's Community Asset Transfer Policy.

Officers have worked with these groups to understand their individual aspirations and to provide tailored advice as to how the groups might best take their respective projects forward, be it through asset transfer, participation requests or another model.

In some instances, this partnership working has led to arrangements being made without the need for a formal asset transfer request. Examples include the granting of "community benefit leases" to community groups for the use of sports pavilions and land for the creation of community gardens.

In other instances, officers have provided property-specific information (e.g. ownership plans, condition surveys or asbestos reports), given expert advice on the preparation of business plans and worked as link-officers signposting groups to other sources of external support and funding. As a result of that practical support, there are a number of community groups currently preparing the ground and actively undertaking due diligence in advance of submitting an asset transfer request.

Officers have also established a positive working relationship with the Community Ownership Support Service (COSS) and will continue to work in partnership with COSS both on the development and promotion of community asset transfer across West Lothian and on specific proposals presented by individual community groups.

Table 4 below provides details of the community groups that officers have engaged with during the reporting period.

8. Community Asset Transfer going forward

Going forward into the 2022/23 financial year and beyond, the council will continue to promote community asset transfer as an important means of delivering positive change across our communities. We will continue to support our communities, building capacity and developing confidence amongst those groups with an interest in asset transfer.

Our work on promoting asset transfer and our engagement with community bodies will support and link into the council's wider approach to Community Wealth Building and Local Place Plans.

Officers continue to be heavily involved in a significant amount of "pre-application" enabling work across a range of community-led projects and it is anticipated this work will result in further asset transfer requests being received during 2022/23.

In accordance with approved policy, all asset transfer requests received by the council will be evaluated by the Community Asset Transfer Officer Board and reported to the Asset Transfer Committee for determination.
